We pride ourselves in creating educational environments where students develop as leaders, embrace diversity and become life-long contributors in a global society. The Division of Student Affairs plays a vital role in creating and maintaining a healthy campus environment and providing innovative learning experiences beyond the classroom for your student.

During your time with us at Family Preview, you can be assured that we will make every effort to assist you in this transition to your student’s college life. Throughout today, you will learn about the support resources and programs available at the university and how you can help your student be successful in our community.

This Family Preview Workbook will help you focus your plans for the coming year. It will be a valuable resource to you during this time and will help connect you to campus services and opportunities in Gainesville. I encourage you to get involved with the university and your student’s education by attending events and programs and by joining the Gator Parent and Family Association. It is my hope that your time with us will be rewarding as you help encourage your student to explore new ideas, discover new areas of interest, and create new opportunities for learning.

Welcome & Go Gators!

Dave Kratzer
Congratulations on being a part of the Gator Nation!

Whether you are a new Gator or you have been a lifelong Gator, we are happy to have you join our community. While your student is transitioning to college, we recognize that you, as a family member, are also experiencing a transition.

Maybe this is your first student to come to college or maybe it is your last student to leave the nest, but no matter where you are in the transition process, there will be challenges and successes. The role of the Gator Parent and Family Association is to assist with the challenges and celebrate the successes with you.

Our goal is to create a community where families can support one another and help their students succeed. There are so many resources at the University of Florida and we hope that you and your student both take advantage of all that we have to offer.

One of the great resources for family members is the Gator Parent and Family Association. All Gator Families are members, but you do have to activate your membership in order to take advantage of all that the GPFA has to offer. To activate your FREE membership visit bit.ly/JoinGPFA.

Activated members will receive The Family Connection, a monthly newsletter, and a complimentary copy of the Seasons of Adjustment Calendar during their student’s first year.

If you need assistance, please don’t hesitate to reach out to us at IHaveAGator@ufl.edu or 352-392-8396.

Some things your student needs to do before leaving Preview:

- Activate GatorLink Services at www.GatorLink.ufl.edu or (352) 392-4357. Activate services like an official UF e-mail account.
- Obtain a Gator1 Card at Gator1 Central. You and your student will have an opportunity to do this on Day 2. Call (352) 392-8343 if you have questions. Your student will receive their Gator 1 Card at checkout on Day 2.
- Review parking options. Speak with a Transportation and Parking Services representative at Gator1 Central on Day 2. You can also contact them at (352) 392-PARK (7275), or online www.parking.ufl.edu.
- Pick up course schedule from his/her preview staffer at checkout following the University of Florida We Care Presentation on Day 2.

Some things you and your student should do between Preview and the beginning of the semester:

- Check student’s record on ISIS (under “My Record”) to confirm whether or not UF received AP, IB, and/or dual enrollment credits. Official reports must be sent to PO Box 114000, Gainesville, FL 32611-4000. High schools or community colleges will not send these reports automatically. For AP score reports, call (888) 225-5427. For IB score reports, call (212) 696-4464. Contact the dual enrollment institution to request that official transcripts be sent.
- Pay tuition and fees, and discuss personal finances and budgeting with your student. Your student can access this through my.ufl.edu.
- Check your homeowners’ policy to see if it covers belongings in a residence hall room if your student will be living on-campus. If your student is living off-campus, look into renter’s insurance plans.
- Review your health insurance policy, double-check student coverage and talk about what is/is not covered. For more information about insurance, including the optional UF - sponsored plan, visit www.shcc.ufl.edu/fee-and-insurance/health-insurance-options/.
- Talk about your communication plan (frequency of calls, emails, etc.), and establish an emergency contact.
- Talk about privacy and confidentiality issues related to your student’s records at UF.
- Talk about social issues that your student may face. The Preview! True Life: I’m a UF Student Session your student attended on Day 1 of Preview may help spark conversation.
- Make hotel reservations if you will be staying overnight when you bring your student to campus for move-in.
- Establish a local bank account if needed. More information about local banks is included in this publication (p.21).
- Think about what you are going to do after you leave your student. Pay attention to the emotions you are experiencing as a family member. Consider sharing your feelings with your student.
- Register for Family Weekend at bit.ly/UFFW2015

As a reminder, all UF Orientation Programs are mandatory programs for new students. Students who do not stay for the duration of the program risk cancellation of their course registration completed at orientation. If there is a family emergency during Preview, please see a New Student and Family Programs professional staff member at the Help Desk on the 2nd floor of the Reitz Union.

How long does Preview last?
All new freshmen will attend a two-day Preview Program (orientation). This program will begin at 8:00 a.m. on Day 1 and will run until 5:00 p.m. on Day 2 and will include a one-on-one advising appointment, course registration, Gator 1 Central, campus resource presentations, and Preview course registration confirmation.

Do not make plans on Day 2 which will prevent you from staying until 5:00 p.m. There is NO possibility to leave before 5:00 p.m. on Day 2.

Where will my student stay tonight?
Students attending the two-day session are required to stay in the designated UF Residence Hall for the first day of the program. However, family members will need to make their own accommodations for the evening. Students will need to provide their own linens, towels and pillows for the overnight stay. Sessions I-H (June 25-26) and II-N (August 18-19) will not include an overnight component.

When should my student bring their luggage?
Students’ luggage for the overnight stay should be brought with them to the J. Wayne Reitz Union during the morning of Day 1. Luggage can be picked up on Day 2 before 8:00 a.m. or after 5:00 p.m. at Jennings Hall.

What is Gator 1 Central?
Gator 1 Central is an opportunity for students and family members to meet with representatives from around campus to help complete your to-do list all in one place. Students and family members will meet at Gator 1 Central on Day 2 of the Preview program. Please check your student’s Day 2 personal schedule for their Gator 1 Central time. Representatives from the following departments will be in attendance:
- Gator 1 Card
- Gator Dining
- Parking and Transportation Services
- Recreational Sports
- Wells Fargo
- Student Financial Affairs
- Office of the Bursar

Day 2 Breakfast
On Day 2 of Preview, breakfast is not a part of the program unless you purchased a Day 2 Meal Plan. However, there are dining locations available on campus such as Starbucks at the Reitz Union and Fresh Food Company at Broward Dining Center. Students should eat breakfast before 8:00 a.m. on Day 2. Student programming will begin at 8:00 a.m. in Jennings Hall. Family programming will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Reitz Union, Grand Ballroom.

How do I attend my student’s advising appointment?
Parents, family members, and guests are not allowed to attend their student’s advising appointment. Your student will discuss majors, tracking, and classes with their Preview Staffer and Advisor on Day 1 of Preview. Dinner on night 1 is a great opportunity to discuss these topics with your student.

If your student needs to adjust their schedule following Preview, they can email previewadjust@advising.ufl.edu or change their schedule on their own during the drop/add period at the beginning of each semester.
Student Adjustment to College

The following questions cause concern for many students entering college:
  • Why am I in college?
  • What will I major in?
  • Will I make friends?

Separation difficulty:
  • Can I survive on my own?
  • How will the relationship with my family change?

Establishing identity on campus:
  • Who am I?
  • How can I do my own thing and maintain the respect of friends, family and myself?

Social Acceptance:
  • How will I fit in?
  • What behavior is expected in a university setting?

Relating with new and different people:
  • How will I react to people who differ from me in religious or political beliefs, value judgments, socioeconomic status, race, etc.?
  • How many differences should I, and can I, accept?

Concern over academic success...What about:
  • Finding my way around campus?
  • Being in large classes?
  • Relating to university professors?
  • Keeping up in class and achieving good grades?
  • Improving study skills?
  • Dealing with test anxiety?
  • Waking up in time for class?

Understanding the system...What about:
  • Grades?
  • Degree plans?
  • Majors?
  • Financial aid?
  • Counseling services?
  • Academic Advisors?

As your first-year student attempts to discover answers to these questions, your willingness to adopt a supportive attitude is the most powerful tool for encouraging your student to become more actively engaged and successful.

If you have questions or concerns about your student’s transition or how UF can help, email IHaveAGator@ufl.edu!
Show Support
• Encourage your student to get to know his or her instructors
• Don’t be surprised by new hairstyles, modes of dress, accents, or food choices
• Encourage your student to take initiative and be responsible
• Be supportive of your student as he or she pursue interests and possible career paths
• Encourage your student to utilize campus resources. Information on campus resources can be found on pages 21-38 of this workbook

• Visit during Fall Family Weekend October 23-25, 2015
• Be flexible
• Discuss with your student the importance of striking a balance between finding a comfort zone and pushing himself or herself to meet others

Communication Efforts
• Keep the lines of communication open
• Be an active listener and show empathy
• Make connections with other family members
• Show interest in their course selections
• Write or e-mail your student regularly (even if they don’t write back)
• Help your student set realistic expectations
• Don’t ask if your student is homesick; instead show interest in your student’s life at UF
• When your student calls with problems, remember the problem causing you to lose sleep may already have been resolved and is now history for your student
• Don’t be afraid to ask for help! Contact the Dean of Students Office (352-392-1261) if you or your student needs help.

Make it Homey
• Send care packages or notes of encouragement
• Create a small medicine kit and tool kit for your student
• Help your student learn how to do laundry
• Don’t decorate the residence hall room for your student – let your student have a say in it
• Discuss with your student how to care for the symptoms of a common cold or flu
• Don’t convert your student’s room at home into your new office (at least not in the first year)

What Successful Students Do:
• Attend Class
• Stay Organized
• Get involved in co-curricular activities
• Ask Academic Advisers for help
• Take care of his/her health
• Attend office hours
• Check e-mail daily
• Study and be prepared for class

BEATRICE GOOD
ACADEMICS
AND
MONEY MATTERS
Your Student’s Transition to UF Classes

The next few months will be an exciting time for you and your new student. Life at the University of Florida will be full of academic opportunities, new classroom learning environments, meaningful relationships with faculty and staff members and classmates, and a time of personal intellectual enrichment. It will also be a time of transition for your student. With any new experience, there is always a feeling of unfamiliarity, vulnerability and uncertainty. Fortunately, faculty and staff members at UF are eager to help make your student’s transition from high school to college as seamless as possible.

Your student will find many differences between the high school and college experiences. Because each three credit class represents about nine hours of work a week, a schedule of 4-6 classes during fall and spring terms is a full-time job. Students selected for admission to the University of Florida have demonstrated superior performance in high school. Some may have done quite well with a minimal amount of studying, however, here they will discover that increased study time is required for each hour in the classroom. In other words, your student will probably have to work much harder to achieve the same level of success as in high school. In addition to the course load, there are also differences in the kind of learning students are expected to do. Many high school and testing programs emphasize didactic, rote memorization. At UF, your student will be challenged to conceptualize and interpret information and be expected to apply knowledge to new situations. Your student will find that nearly all UF students were also very successful in high school, and that for the first time, your student may not be the best in the class. Finally, many students will find that they are challenged by the need to budget their time among academics, scheduled activities, group projects, and co-curricular experiences; in addition to adjusting emotionally and psychologically to being away from home for the first time.

The University of Florida and its students are partners in their education. We are committed to offering the courses and resources students need to earn a UF degree. However, students must actively participate in seeking advisement when questions arise, attend classes, complete assigned work and meet with instructors for help, select and confirm their major, evaluate their progress toward a degree and meet published deadlines. The University of Florida offers a large number of services to help students cope with these changes including tutoring, study skills and learning strategies, assistance in the Teaching Center, counseling services and faculty members who welcome students’ questions. It is important to emphasize to your student that it is okay to ask for help, and we encourage all students to utilize UF’s many supportive resources. If you are not sure where to start email umatter@ufl.edu.

Major Considerations (and re-considerations)

Your student may have chosen a major – or your student may have changed his or her major three times during Preview alone! Keep in mind that 20% of first-year students change majors by the end of their first fall term, and 60% of them change by the end of their second year.

Choosing a major can be difficult. After all, there are over 150 majors to choose from at the University of Florida. It is quite likely that your student has never taken classes in many of the majors we offer. This is a perfect time to explore options and to experiment with subjects of interest. The University of Florida offers many resources to help your student choose an appropriate major including the counselors in the Career Resource Center, Departmental Advisors and Academic Advisors. Students who have not narrowed down their choice of major may declare one of three exploratory categories during Preview. Students classified as exploratory must declare a specific major before registering for their fourth term. Students enrolled in the Innovation Academy will have the opportunity to explore majors within IA, but must have a declared major at all times.
If changing majors is so common, why do we ask students to try to declare a major during Preview? It is important for students to test out an academic direction early, even if they do not feel very confident about their direction. Students who are not sure about a major should declare the major they will most likely pursue. In addition, students should take courses in and explore the career opportunities associated with the chosen major to make sure they are satisfied with their choice. Because most of the courses taken during the first year are general education courses that apply to any degree, it is easiest to change majors in the first year. If a student decides to change majors, they should meet with an academic advisor in the college that offers the new major.

Realize that your student will question, and possibly change, majors while at UF. Be supportive of this growth process during this time of uncertainty. Students may be afraid to admit that their first choice, proudly announced to the world before, is not working out. Encourage your student to test out the selected major by taking the required courses and by evaluating career opportunities connected with the major. Advise your student to research new potential major(s) thoroughly and make an informed decision before selecting a new major.

More Than Just a Major

UF recognizes that a student’s education is more than just a major. While we emphasize the importance of discovering an academic direction early, we also want students to know that much of their education will occur outside of their major, and even outside of the classroom.

Most UF majors comprise only about 1/3 of the total hours required for the degree. In addition, most majors have a significant number of elective credits built into their programs. This allows students to explore areas of interest, either related to their major or other academic interest.

Advising on Campus

After Preview, students needing advising will go to their college’s advising office (see www.ufadvising.ufl.edu for links to advising information for each college). Students who are unsure where to seek guidance can go to the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLAS) Academic Advising Center. CLAS Advisors work not only with CLAS majors, but also with exploratory students and students who need information on how to change majors. In addition, students interested in pursuing pre-health or pre-law can get advising on these areas by going to the CLAS Academic Advising Center.

If CLAS advisors cannot help a student, they will refer him or her to the appropriate office. The University Honors Program offers advising to those students invited to participate in the Honors Program.

How You Can Provide Academic Support

Our best advice on supporting your student is to help your student be actively engaged in the academic experience. Your student’s experience at the University of Florida will be unique. Therefore, encourage your student to explore and use all of UF’s many resources, especially academic advisors. Encouraging your student to get to know faculty, take advantage of resources and get involved are all great ways for your student to become actively engaged and lay a foundation for success at UF! Family members are great at helping students identify areas of strength and passion. Talking with your student about these topics may help solidify a choice in major or explore something new.

The first-year experience can be overwhelming, but also exciting, and the university will help support both you and your student during this experience. Now is the time to help your student continue to develop problem solving skills so that he or she can begin working through potential challenges that may occur. Assisting your student in clearly identifying concerns and questions, and by encouraging your student to ask for assistance, is not only helping support your student but, also helps him or her develop problem solving skills.

Frequently Asked Academic Questions

How many hours should my student take in the first term?
Students must determine their own appropriate course load. Students should use the semester-by-semester plan (in the Guide to Majors) as a guide for their major, as well as the advice of their college. Ultimately, students will need to decide what feels comfortable and what is manageable. Students generally need to average 15 hours first semester in order to complete the minimum hours to graduate on time (unless they bring in college credits and/or attend summer terms). Most summer schedules are approximately 6 hours and most fall semester schedules are 12-15 hours.

What happens if my student changes his or her mind about the courses he or she wants to take?
After they have registered during Preview, students may adjust their fall schedules via The Integrated Student Information System after August 4. Summer B students may adjust their Summer B schedules right before Summer B starts. Drop/add (the final period students may adjust their schedules) is the first two days in Summer term and the first five days of Fall term. Schedule adjusting can be a risk. Seats that are available to a student during Preview may no longer be available afterwards. Students should always add the course they desire before dropping a course they have. Students who must adjust their schedules because they receive AP, IB, AICE or placement scores after Preview can get assistance by emailing previewadjust@advising.ufl.edu.

What should my student do if a course he or she wants is closed?
Although the University offers hundreds of courses and reserves seats in many of them for new first-year students, your student may not get every course he or she wants. Your student should get any critical tracking courses that must be taken in the first term. Usually your student will have worked with an advisor to determine appropriate alternate courses to take if a desired course is closed. For many requirements (such as General Education) there are a large number of courses from which your student may choose. Students who particularly desire a specific course that is unavailable should register for an alternate and then attempt to add the course during the schedule adjustment period (another student may drop the course to open a space for your student). There is often a great deal of movement in courses during the drop/add period. Finally, if your student is unable to enroll in a particular course during the first semester, he or she can register for it in a later semester.

What if my student changes his or her major?
About 20% of UF first-year students change majors during their first fall semester. Even students who enter UF with a very clear idea of where they are headed may find that they want or need to consider alternative majors. Most students have little difficulty changing their majors, particularly if they do so early in their academic careers. That’s why it is important that students confirm their major choice early.

Why would an advisor suggest that my student drop a course during the term?
During the course of the semester, students may realize that they are not performing adequately in one of their courses. In these situations, it may be better for the student to drop the course even after the drop/add period. The course will appear on the student’s record with a “W” instead of the poor grade, and will not adversely impact the student’s GPA (which can affect scholarships, admission to the major, etc.). There is a limit to the number of courses a student can drop. Students are allowed 2 drops per 60 credit hours. After the drop/add period, students must get their college’s approval in order to process a drop.

More information regarding academic policies and procedures can be found at the Academic Advising Center’s homepage at www.ufadvising.ufl.edu.
The University of Florida seeks to prepare students for life: intellectually, academically, and in their personal development. The university offers many exceptional, perhaps unparalleled, opportunities for its students to expand the scope of their horizons beyond the learning that is achieved in the classroom. Students can gain leadership skills, maturity, and a commitment to service through participation in the university’s numerous resources that provide opportunities for in-depth learning, research, and mentoring.

The University of Florida encourages each of its undergraduates to pursue at least two of the following five opportunities during their four years of study:

Internships with Government Agencies, Non-Profit Organizations, and Businesses
The University of Florida offers academic credit for internships that enable students to explore opportunities in government, non-profit organizations, and business. Whether the internship is with the state legislature, an interest group, business, the Governor’s office, the federal government, a lobbying organization, law firms, media companies, or another career-related position, an internship can provide basic work experience and an understanding of the public and private sectors.

Research with Faculty
The University of Florida offers numerous opportunities to pursue research in all disciplines, under the direction of a faculty member. These intensive research opportunities are one of our ways to personalize the academic experience but also to challenge students academically in ways that will allow them to strengthen their writing and analytical skills. Undergraduates also have the opportunity pursue a senior thesis or a project under the direction of a faculty member in each of our departments. In addition, the University Scholar Program offers students, on a competitive basis, a chance to obtain one of 200 research awards of $1750 each to study with a faculty member as a University Scholar and to present their research at the Undergraduate Research Symposium.

Volunteer Service to the Community, State, and Nation
In an effort to promote community involvement and a volunteer spirit, the University of Florida provides a variety of volunteer opportunities to students. These opportunities are available through government and charitable organizations in Gainesville and other communities at the state and national level. Students may also participate in the Florida Alternative Breaks program, in which students travel to another community to perform service during one of the breaks during the academic year.

Study Abroad
Regardless of what students may do after graduation, they will be making their way in a society that is increasingly global in its perspective. To help students develop an awareness and understanding of the world, the University of Florida offers over 70 faculty led programs in which a student can study over spring break, during the summer, or for an entire semester or academic year. Students are highly encouraged to take part in at least one of these programs during their undergraduate career.

Leadership
There are a wide variety of leadership opportunities at the University of Florida in any of the more than 975 student organization. These communities connect students to academic majors and programs, recreational activities, professional and career minded opportunities, social events, and other special interests. Students can also participate in workshops about leadership, as well as attend student conferences and programs about leadership such as Involve, Lead, Succeed, co-sponsored by the Center for Leadership and Service. Overall, leadership includes endeavors by students to work with others to make the university community a better place.

What is FERPA?
The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, also known as the Buckley Amendment, helps protect the privacy of students’ educational records. The intent of the legislation is to protect the rights of students and to ensure the privacy and accuracy of educational records. FERPA provides students with the right to inspect and review educational records, the right to seek to amend those records and the right to limit disclosure of information from the records.

The University of Florida complies fully with the Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, which governs access to, and confidentiality of, student records. Institutions may disclose such student information without violating FERPA if that information has been designated “directory information.” At the University of Florida, directory information includes:

- Name
- Address (local, permanent, and e-mail)
- Telephone number
- Class and college
- Major field of study
- Enrollment status (e.g. undergraduate or graduate level; full or part time)
- Dates of attendance at UF
- Degrees and awards received at UF
- Most recent educational institution attended
- Publication titles (dissertations)
- Nature and place of employment at UF
- Weight and height of university athletes

FAQ
I’m interested in seeing my student’s grade report. How do I obtain a copy?
There are several options that may allow a parent or legal guardian to access a student’s grades:

1) Students may order a transcript to be sent to you or through my.ufl.edu by selecting My Record > Transcripts. The fee is $6 for currently enrolled students. Students also may print a copy of their unofficial transcript for you.

2) Students may provide a signed letter authorizing the release of grades to the parent or legal guardian. This letter only authorizes the Office of the University Registrar to provide the parent or legal guardian with access to grades for a specified term.

3) Parents or legal guardian may contact the Office of the University Registrar (222 Criser Hall; 352-392-1374) to obtain a Parent's Consent for Non-directory Information Release form. You must provide the completed form and a copy of the first and last page of the most recent year's federal income tax return. The first page must list the student as a dependent and the last page must be signed and dated; financial data may be omitted. The consent form and tax return will be imaged as part of the student’s permanent academic record. A new request form must be submitted for each term that information is requested, and IRS documentation must be provided annually.

I need proof that my student is enrolled full-time for insurance purposes. What is the easiest way to obtain this certification/verification?

1) The student may come by 222 Criser Hall with a valid picture ID to receive an enrollment certification and provide it to you. They can also order an enrollment verification online by selecting My Record > Enrollment/Degree Verifications, and have it sent to you.

2) A signed release from the student is necessary for request of a certification containing non-directory information. Non-directory information includes such things as GPA and estimated graduation date. The student can mail or fax a written enrollment certification request (including name, University of Florida identification number (UFID), dates of attendance, date of birth, where to mail the certification, student's signature, and the date). Our fax number is (352) 846-1126.

Our mailing address is:

The Office of the University Registrar
University of Florida
P.O. Box 114000
Gainesville, FL 32611-4000
3) If third parties wish to obtain enrollment verification, the National Student Clearinghouse is an authorized agent for providing enrollment verifications. Insurance companies, or other third-party inquiries, can contact the Clearinghouse by phone at (703) 742-4200 (from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Monday-Thursday; 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Friday) by fax at (703) 742-4239, by e-mail to enrollmentverify@studentclearinghouse.org or by accessing their Web site at www.studentclearinghouse.org. If a parent or student needs enrollment certification immediately, they can utilize the Clearinghouse services and print an enrollment verification from their Web site for a $2.50 fee.

For comprehensive information on FERPA, please visit our website at: www.registrar.ufl.edu/ferpahub.html.

How can a student restrict the release of directory information?
For a complete privacy hold, the student must submit a Restriction of Directory Information form, available at 222 Criser Hall. For a web-only privacy hold, the student should go through the my.ufl.edu portal to Gatordex and follow the instructions to restrict any information they do not want published. To access the portal, the student can sign on (using Gatorlink username and password) at my.ufl.edu. A web-only privacy hold only restricts the release of directory information on the UF Web site. A complete privacy hold restricts the release of directory information (in any format) to anyone. If a student elects a complete restriction, the student must conduct any business pertaining to student status in writing with a signature or in person with a valid picture ID. The privacy hold remains in place until the student removes the restriction in writing by submitting a new Restriction of Directory Information form, even if a student graduates or withdraws from the university.

If a complete directory information privacy hold is in place, is there any information that still can be released?
FERPA permits the release of some information without student permission. Even with a complete directory information privacy hold, information may still be released to:

- University of Florida faculty and staff with legitimate educational interests who have a need to know
- Parents who can provide appropriate IRS documentation indicating the dependency of the student
- Board of Education
- Banks and lending institutions in conjunction with receipt of financial aid
- Comply with a judicial order or a lawfully issued subpoena
- Appropriate parties in a health or safety emergency, such as parents, University Police Department, and the Student Health Care Center
- Faculty and staff at another school, in which the student seeks or intends to enroll

Except for these parties, no information will be released. We will not even acknowledge that the individual has any affiliation with UF.

Is my student attending class?
UF does not require the monitoring of class attendance, although some instructors do take attendance. This matter is best discussed between you and your student. Please remind your student regular attendance is an important part of being a successful student.

How can I change my student’s address(es)?
Only your student can change addresses by going to my.ufl.edu and choosing Access myUFL, then signing on with his/her Gatorlink username and password. In the myUFL menu select My Account > Update My Directory Profile and follow the instructions in each section to update information. We strongly encourage your student to keep emergency contact information on file. They can provide, review or update this information by clicking on the link at the bottom of the “Update My Directory Profile” page - “Emergency Contact Information.” Also, your student can access Emergency Contact Information from “My Account” > “Update Emergency Contact”. Detailed instructions may be found in the student workbook.

My student is trying to enroll and the class(es) are not available. What can I do?
Your student should contact the department that offers the course. There are many reasons a specific course may not be available. Your student may not have the required prerequisite or may need departmental approval.

When do semesters begin and end?

Tuition Payment Deadlines
Tuition Payment is due at 3:30 p.m., on Friday at the end of the second week of classes. A $100 Late Payment Fee will be assessed if payment is not received by the deadline. On-time payments are receipt date and not postmark date. Payments received are first applied to the oldest debt. Exception: financial aid disbursements will always pay tuition first.

Determining Tuition Charges Owed
Login at my my.ufl.edu; select Main Menu > My Campus Finances > Charges Due; tuition bills are not mailed.

Payment Options
Pay on myUFL: Electronic check, no service charge; Visa, American Express, MasterCard, or Discover with a 2.6% service charge; International currencies via wire transfer, or Mobile device…Go to m.ufl.edu and select Make a Payment. Place your personal check, cashier’s check, or money order in the 24-hour Criser drop box at 113 Criser Hall. Cash and debit card are not available payment options.

Disbursement of Student Financial Awards
Financial aid disbursements on loans begin the day before classes begin; scholarships and grants are disbursed after the established drop/add date, which is available on the University Registrar website. Money Matters (cont.)

What type of aid is available?
Grants: Grants are awarded to students who show the greatest financial need. They are considered gift aid.

Scholarships: Scholarships are awards based on academic achievement, but financial need may also be considered. Scholarships are considered gift aid. They are awarded by various organizations such as the university, the state, individual colleges and departments, and private entities.

Employment: Employment is considered self-help aid, as it is offered in exchange for a service. Students can either work through a need-based program such as Federal Work Study, or obtain employment through on-campus employers that do not require federal funding in order to employ students. Visit jobs.ufl.edu for listings.

Loans: Loans are considered self-help aid, as loan funds must be repaid. Sources of loans are generally either federal, state, institutional, or private.

How do I apply?
Applying correctly for financial aid is critical in order to maximize all potential avenues for funding. At the University of Florida, the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is the starting point in the financial aid process. Apply online at www.fafsa.gov.

If you are a Bright Futures recipient, it is required that you notify the Florida Department of Education that you are now attending the University of Florida, school code 011. You can update your status at www.floridastudentfinancialaid.org/ssfad/bf.

When should I apply?
Although you must be accepted for enrollment at UF before you are considered for financial aid, you should apply for aid before being admitted. You can file a FAFSA as early as January 1 each year. UF’s “On-Time” deadline to receive the results of your FAFSA from the federal processor is March 15. Apply well before March 15 to ensure that the federal processor has time to analyze and send the results of your FAFSA to our office. Financial aid is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis so apply as early as possible to be considered for the most, and best aid.

How is aid awarded?
Awards are based upon the accuracy of data given on the FAFSA and the school’s projection of available funding. Award notifications and other communications about your financial aid will be sent to your Gatorlink email address. It is extremely important to notify the Office for Student Financial Affairs if you are expecting to receive monies that are not currently listed on the award letter, via the ‘Additional Aid Reporting’ link on your ‘Awards and Disbursements’ page at www.isis.ufl.edu.

When is aid disbursed?
You must complete all federal financial aid requirements before any federal funds can be disbursed to you. Check your financial aid status at www.isis.ufl.edu to make sure you have submitted and/or completed all requirements necessary for you to receive your financial aid.

Disbursement of loan funds, SEOG, and Turner Grant for students who have completed all federal requirements and who are enrolled full-time will begin the first week of classes. Disbursement of Florida Bright Futures Scholarships, Pell Grants, scholarships, and other financial aid, as well as aid for recipients of Florida Prepaid and Machen Florida Opportunity Scholarships will begin after the drop/add period is over.

Campus Multi-Faith Cooperative (CMC)

For many students, part of finding a home at UF, involves finding a community with whom to explore and develop values, spirituality and/or faith. For some, this means getting involved with one of the registered religious student organizations on campus (see www.studentinvolvement.ufl.edu/). In addition to these student organizations, students can also find guidance and support from members of The Campus Multi-Faith Cooperative (CMC). The CMC is a network of religious organizations staffed by religious professionals trained to serve the university community. Each adheres to the principles of its own tradition, but all accept and support the work of other members of the cooperative. For more information please visit www.ufcmc.com.

The Center for Leadership and Service educates students through meaningful experiences designed to prepare socially responsible individuals to create positive sustainable change in an increasingly complex society. We provide educational programs, workshops and conferences, and coordinate community service, leadership, social justice and service learning opportunities for students.

The Center promotes ethical, thoughtful, and globally-minded leadership, service, and civic engagement by encouraging students to grow and learn from a variety of leadership models and competencies. These models and the programs of the Center seek to unify competent student leadership with meaningful service. The Florida Alternative Breaks program is one of the largest in the U.S., our mentoring program, MentorUF, sends more than 400 students into the local Gainesville schools each semester, and through events like the Volunteer Organization Fairs and days of service, and connections to local service sites, over 40% of students at the University of Florida engage in service coordinated through the Center for Leadership and Service.

In the Spring of 2016, the Center for Leadership and Service will move into the J. Wayne Reitz Union, to provide a more central hub, and home, for students interested in developing as leaders and engaging with their community.

Learn about social issues and gain skills needed to advocate for the causes you are passionate about
Our office engages students in learning about social issues and in developing skills to be positive, energetic advocates for the causes that inspire them through programs such as the Gator Global Initiative conference, Projects for Peace, the Greater Gator Conference and Servant Leader Initiatives. In addition, students can also build their leadership knowledge, skills, and abilities by participating as executive officers in our sponsored organizations, leadership workshops, and the Center for Leadership and Service Ambassadors.

Engage in direct service and mentoring in the local community and beyond
Students have the opportunity to engage in direct service through our SummerPlunge, GatorPlunge and MLK days of service, or by spending an academic break on a Florida Alternative Breaks (FAB) trip in Florida, the United States, and around the world. Additionally, students can make a direct impact on the local Gainesville community and the future of K-12 students by mentoring through MentorUF. This mentoring experience allows participants to work with students individually or in groups to serve as a role model and inspiration to traditionally underserved students.

Represent the Center for Leadership and Service and demonstrate your passion and abilities
The Center for Leadership and Service Ambassadors are a select group of students who are highly committed to the mission of the Center. This group of students serves to promote the Center and its mission on campus and to raise the profile of the Center. The Ambassadors help to plan Center for Leadership and Service events, including the Volunteer Organization Fairs and the Center’s Annual Open House, as well as serve as a presence for the office throughout the UF community.

The Dean of Students Office (DSO) creates a culture of care for students, their families, faculty, and staff by providing exemplary programs and services to enhance students’ academic and personal success. Emergencies and services for students in distress are coordinated through the Dean of Students Office. These include the Behavioral Consultation Team, Crisis Response Team, Emergency Deans, and the Protest Team. We pride ourselves on being welcoming and supportive, especially to students and families in distress. The Dean of Students Office is comprised of the following areas which are here to assist you:

CARE AREA
Professionals in the Dean of Students Office work with students, their families, and campus resources to derive success plans and provide ongoing support for students in distress dealing with a variety of issues. Medical Withdrawals are also the responsibility of the Care Area. The staff helps students complete the necessary medical petition paperwork for all courses or medical drops before or after the drop deadline.

COLLEGIATE VETERANS SUCCESS CENTER
The Collegiate Veterans Success Center, located on the 4th floor of Yon Hall, serves the 1200+ student veterans at UF by providing a designated location on campus for student veterans to study, meet with on and off campus resources, and to spend time with and support each other in a fun and relaxing space.

DISABILITY RESOURCE CENTER
The Disability Resource Center strives to provide quality services to students with physical, learning, sensory or psychological disabilities, to educate them about their rights and responsibilities so that they can make informed decisions, and to foster a sense of empowerment so that they can engage in critical thinking and self-advocacy. The Disability Resource Center serves more than 1500 students with disabilities registered with the office through classroom accommodations, support groups, a testing center that proctors 6000 tests annually and one-to-one skills coaching. The Disability Resource Center staff is available for consultation with faculty, families, and students.

NEW STUDENT and FAMILY PROGRAMS
New Student and Family Programs (NSFP) provides ongoing programs that support new students and families in their transition to the University of Florida. NSFP focuses on providing a welcoming and inclusive atmosphere, connecting students to university resources and people, acquainting students with institutional expectations and values, promoting learning and discovery both inside and outside the classroom and fostering pride in the Gator community. New Student and Family Programs also coordinates a variety of nationally recognized programs that serve to orient and help successfully transition new students to the University. These include Preview, which orients 20,000 students and family members annually; Convocation; the Common Reading Program; Family Weekend; Weeks of Welcome; and the First Year Florida course, a one credit hour success course taken by more than 1,800 students each year.

STUDENT CONDUCT and CONFLICT RESOLUTION
In 2011 - 2012, Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution at the University of Florida was nationally ranked as the #1 office by their peers. Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution facilitates the Student Code of Conduct and Honor Code processes which guides and holds accountable students for their behavior in and outside of the classroom. In addition to traditional adjudication, the office provides conflict resolution services, including mediation and restorative justice. If you find yourself in a dispute with another person these conflict resolution services can provide you with valuable skills to resolve current and future conflicts. Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution is available to consult with faculty, families and students around a variety of behavior and conflict related issues.

U MATTER, WE CARE
www.umatter.ufl.edu

U Matter, We Care is coordinated through the Dean of Students Office. Based on the philosophy that all UF community members must take responsibility for each other and themselves, U Matter, We Care provides a means to assist students in distress during their time at the University of Florida. Care about your fellow Gators, offer help, and get help if you or someone you know may need assistance. Contact umatter@ufl.edu if you ever know a student in distress.

What is a disability?
A disability is a learning, medical, physical, psychological, or sensory condition that substantially limits one or more major life activities (e.g. learning, hearing, seeing). The disability must be documented by a qualified physician or other licensed professional in a field related to the disability. Since each disability is unique, guidelines for what constitutes appropriate documentation for a particular disability are available. Students who would like to inquire about available services are encouraged to contact the Disability Resource Center at (352) 392-8565 or via e-mail at accessuf@dso.ufl.edu to schedule an in-person, phone, or virtual appointment.

How does a student get started?
Students who would like to access services must register with the Disability Resource Center (DRC) in order to receive academic accommodations. Students should call our office at (352) 392-8565 to schedule an appointment. Students should bring documentation of disability to the appointment. During this initial appointment a DRC staff member will review the documentation. Students should be prepared to discuss the impact of their disability and their history of accommodation. This information will help the DRC staff member, in collaboration with the student, establish reasonable accommodations.

When should a student register with the DRC?
Although registration with our office can occur at any point in time, students are encouraged to register with the DRC as early as possible at the beginning of their first semester. Registering early will help ensure that academic accommodations are in place from the start of the semester. Students (and family members) who would like to meet with a DRC staff member in conjunction with a campus visit before their first semester are encouraged to contact our office at (352) 392-8565 to schedule an appointment.

What are some examples of accommodations offered by the DRC?
Some typical accommodations offered by the DRC include note-taking services, extended exam time, low distraction exam setting, alternative format textbooks, priority registration, and reduced course load.

How will a student communicate accommodation needs to instructors?
Students will communicate their accommodation needs to their instructors through accommodation letters prepared by the DRC. It is suggested that students provide their accommodation letters to their instructors within the first two weeks of class each semester.

What if a student needs modifications to assigned accommodations?
Students who feel that their accommodations are not effective or need to be modified in order to meet the unique demands of specific courses should contact the DRC and schedule an appointment to discuss modifying current accommodations. It is essential that students and the DRC work together in making a decision to modify any accommodations.

Are course substitutions available?
Yes, students with diagnosed disabilities that directly impact their ability to be successful in foreign language and/or math courses can petition for foreign language and/or math course substitutions. Students remain responsible for all courses required by their academic major.

What additional services are available to support students with disabilities?
Learning Strategy / Coaching sessions are available to registered DRC students to provide educational and solution-focused support in a 1:1 setting. Additionally, Facilitated Support Groups are available to provide similar support in a group setting.
First Generation students are the first in their family to go to college. As a result of being first, they enter college with unique experiences and perspectives that the office aims to support. First generation college students are the trailblazers for future generations and your support has led them to this point. As they transition to campus, the office wants to continue building on their personal and academic success.

The Office of First Generation Student Support is dedicated to supporting UF’s first generation student population. The various programs offered by the office aim to increase the enrollment of high achieving first generation students at UF while providing a variety of resources for current first generation students, to aid in the journey to academic success.

We help students:
- Develop college success strategies
- Build academic and professional confidence
- Understand their first-generation identity
- Connect to peer and professional mentors
- Access campus resources

Programs

Advising: Students can come into the office to schedule a meeting with one of the First Generation Student Support staff. Staff is available to assist students with navigating the college experience.

First Generation Student Organization (FGSO): The First Generation Student Organization exists to foster a diverse community amongst students who are first in their families to attend college by providing opportunities to strengthen self-awareness, strive for academic excellence, and develop leadership skills while giving back to the UF and global communities.

First Generation Advocates: The First Generation Advocate Program connects students with knowledgeable professionals who can give insight into their future goals. This is a great way for students to begin making connections to the faculty and staff members here on campus.

First Generation Summit: The First Generation Summit is an all-day retreat focused on the power of claiming your story and better understanding the significance identity has on the college experience for first generation students. The Summit is targeted at second year first generation students.

FOS Academy of Leadership: The Florida Opportunity Scholars Academy of Leadership (FOSAL) is a year-long leadership program that teaches self-awareness, career preparation, and global awareness. FOSAL is open to third and fourth year first generation students.

Featured Alumni Talks: We host a career talk for students to learn about the journey of a first generation Gator alum who is in a particular industry. The talks are either in person or via Skype so alums can share their experiences and answer questions about their time at UF and as a professional. Many of the students find these talks informative and empowering, especially when thinking about what it means to be first generation.

Life Coach Program: The Life Coach Program is offered to all third and fourth year first generation students. Students are paired with a trained UF faculty, staff, or graduate student to receive one-on-one guidance in post-graduation planning.

Gator 1 Central is the home of the official Gator 1 ID Card and much, much more. All Gator 1 Central Card services can be found on our website: www.Gator1.ufl.edu. G1C is located in the Welcome Center next to the UF Bookstore.

The Gator 1 Card is required for various activities on campus including Regional Transit System (RTS) bus service, Gator Dining Meal Plans and Declining Balance Accounts, Campus Vending Accounts, UF Bookstore Textbook Deferments, libraries, recreational centers, and more.

Tomorrow your student will have an opportunity to get his or her Gator 1 Card and sign up for services. Your student will need to present a photo ID, and a $15 charge will be sent to his or her student accounts receivable.

There are two different options that Gator Dining Services provides for students to eat on campus; Meal Plans and a Declining Balance account.

A Meal Plan is recommended for students living on campus. Each Meal Plan comes with Flex Bucks that may be used at all 45 Gator Dining locations. The Declining Balance account can be used at all Gator Dining locations and is a convenient alternative to carrying cash.

The UF Bookstore is located in the Welcome Center adjacent to the J. Wayne Reitz Union. New, used, rental, and digital texts are available as well as school supplies and lots of Gator Gear.

UF offers the Textbook Deferred Payment option through the UF Bookstore which allows the purchase of textbooks and school supplies using a Gator 1 Card. Students are automatically eligible based on financial awards. No application is necessary. Advance Orders for books can also be made online.

Wells Fargo offers a wide array of benefits and services when you link your Gator 1 Card to a Wells Fargo College Checking® account* for added banking convenience. With a linked Gator 1 Card, the monthly service fee is waived and you can use it to make purchases using your Personal Identification Number (PIN), for free access to cash at Wells Fargo ATMs nationwide, for banking on the go with Wells Fargo Mobile® Banking, for direct deposit of your financial aid funds, and more. Enjoy the convenience of a single card that serves as your official student ID and supports your banking needs.

Visit www.gator1.ufl.edu for more information.

* Eligibility subject to approval. Students must provide proof of enrollment at an accredited institution when the account is opened. The Wells Fargo College Checking account is part of the College Combo® checking package. © 2013 Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. All rights reserved. Member FDIC.

Students with Gator 1 ID Cards may ride any RTS bus fare-free on campus and anywhere else RTS goes in Gainesville.

Vehicles parked on campus during restricted hours (Monday – Friday, 7:30 AM – 4:30 PM in most areas) must display a valid UF parking decal. Specific hours of restriction for each parking area on campus will be posted on the signage located at the area. Other parking restrictions (such as, but not limited to) reserved spaces, service drives, no parking zones, and disabled parking spaces are enforced at all times.

Decal eligibility is based on whether the student lives on or off campus and the number of credit hours earned at the beginning of each academic year. Student parking decals must be purchased online at www.parking.ufl.edu. Decals may be purchased annually (for the entire academic year) or for the current semester. Motorcycle/Scooter decals and regular vehicle monthly and weekly decals are also available for purchase at the Transportation and Parking Services Customer Service Office, located at 1273 Gale Lemerand Drive. Please check www.parking.ufl.edu for complete details.
UF's Office of Off Campus Life (OCL) wants your student to have a rewarding and successful off-campus experience. Read on for resources and tips to assist your student in finding the ideal place to live off campus.

Appointments: Off Campus Life provides individual appointments with students, and family members of students, who are looking for off-campus housing. To schedule an appointment call Off Campus Life at (352) 392-1207 or visit the OCL website at www.offcampus.ufl.edu/appointments/ and fill out the appointment request form. Off campus housing meetings include information about average costs, lease information, transportation information, safety tips, roommate information, and an opportunity to have your questions answered by an Off Campus Life staff member.

Off Campus Housing Locator Service: Tailor your property search by various criteria including price, number of rooms and bathrooms, location, etc. by using Off Campus Life's FREE off-campus housing search engine. Go to http://housing.offcampus.ufl.edu to use this free service. The housing locator service also provides a listing of subleases for rent and a roommate finder where you can search for other UF students that are looking for roommates.

Shop Around: Tour several properties and take your time searching for off-campus housing. Do not sign a lease until you tour the property in-person. Before you sign a lease, bring a copy to Student Legal Services (SLS) to have lawyers review it for free. Visit the SLS website www.studentlegalservices.ufl.edu to schedule an appointment. More information on Student Legal Services can be found on page 50 of this workbook.

Safety and Crime Reports: Check out crime reports for certain areas by going to the Gainesville Police Department’s website at www.gainesvillepd.org. Click on “Crime Reports” on the right hand side of the page. Enter the address to see the crime reports and reported incidents appear on a city map.

Roommates: If you're looking for roommates, some complexes will place you with other tenants via roommate matching or roommate placement. Roommate matching groups people based on similar lifestyle habits and interests while roommate placement matches people based on vacancy.

Even if you've known your roommates your entire life, set up guidelines for the home environment. Do you care if it gets messy or do you always want it clean? What are your expectations for guests? Who's going to take out the garbage? Things like this may seem trivial, but it's these little annoyances that sometimes turn into major conflicts. Need mediation? Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution www.dso.ufl.edu/scr provides this service. We find that roommates who openly communicate and compromise typically have a happy living environment.

Leases: There are two types of leases: individual and joint leases. OCL recommends individual leases because you are only responsible for your share of the expenses. Joint leases require expenses to be paid, even if a roommate is not contributing their share. Bring the academic dates with you www.registrar.ufl.edu when you go to sign the lease and make sure your move in date is before classes begin and your move out date is after finals are over. A lease is a legal binding contract so make sure you understand it before you sign it. Sign only for the length you need the apartment and check for any fees you may have to pay. Bring a copy of the lease to Student Legal Service before you sign it.

Neighbors and City Codes: Get to know the people you live next to. Also, be aware of three local city codes: the noise ordinance, occupancy limit and landlord permit. If your residence is the source of a noise loud enough to be heard 200 feet away, you're in violation of the noise ordinance and may be subject to a $250 fine. The occupancy limit states that no more than three unrelated people can live in a single-family dwelling (house). Violators may be evicted. Note: This does not apply to apartments. Lastly, if you are renting a house or purchasing one to rent, the owner must have a landlord permit from the city of Gainesville. For more information, visit the city of Gainesville website www.cityofgainesville.org.

Connect to UF: Get involved with UF. Join a student organization, do research, get an on-campus job, etc. Don't just go to class then go home. Take advantage of the many resources and opportunities UF provides. There are daily free events and activities for you, so go out and take part in this great Gator Nation. Go Gators!!

For more information about Off Campus Life, please visit our website www.offcampus.ufl.edu, like us on Facebook at UF’s Off Campus Life, follow us on Twitter @UFOffCampusLife and visit our YouTube channel ufoffcampuslife.

Preferred roommate(s) must then log on to HMS “Room Selection” tab and ACCEPT the held space being held by the end of the next day at 11:59 p.m. or the offer will expire. If roommate DECLINES space or fails to accept space by the deadline, the hold will expire.

After these attempts have been made, you can attempt a room transfer via the HMS.

Do NOT make room changes without contacting the Assignments Office. No mutual swaps or transfers can occur until after the academic ADD/Drop period. Swaps or Transfers must be with the Main Housing Office and Assignments staff.

About Study Abroad
The University of Florida recognizes study abroad as one of the five activities that lead to an enhanced university experience. With study abroad, students can become a Global Gator and study in the places they’ve only read about—all while earning credit towards their degree. The University of Florida International Center, located in The Hub, is the main hub for all international activities at UF. Visit the Study Abroad Services office in the International Center or browse our web page at www.abroad.ufic.ufl.edu to find out more about programs and funding options.

Frequently Asked Questions about Study Abroad
What steps should students take to find the right study abroad program and to ensure that it meets their academic needs?
• Become familiar with the International Center and Study Abroad Services at www.abroad.ufic.ufl.edu.
• Visit Study Abroad Services in The Hub to peruse our extensive library of programs.
• Sign up for a Study Abroad Info Session at the International Center or online to learn the basics.
• Once you have narrowed your search for a program, you can schedule an appointment with a Study Abroad Advisor who will help you refine your choices and find a program that matches your interests.
• Discuss your plans to go abroad with a faculty member in your department and/or an academic advisor who will ensure that your choice of program will keep you on track toward graduation.
• Attend the Study Abroad Fair on Wednesday, September 16, 2015 from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. in the Plaza of the Americas. The fair provides the perfect opportunity to do some “one-stop shopping” about study abroad. Students can talk to UF professors who lead UF programs, students who have recently been abroad, Study Abroad Advisors and representatives from other programs at institutions around the world!

What are the academic prerequisites to apply for a study abroad program? Students must have completed one full semester at UF and must be a student in good standing to apply. Depending on a college’s requirements, there may be major courses, general education requirements, or specific GPA requirements that students must meet before applying. Some programs conducted in a foreign language may require a certain level of language proficiency from the student. However, there are many programs that offer foreign language instruction at the beginner level or offer all classes taught in English.

If a student receives financial aid, can the aid be applied to study abroad? Yes! The University of Florida allows students to use financial aid packages toward any UF approved study abroad program, whether sponsored by UF itself or by another institution. Students can use Florida Bright Futures scholarships, grants, loans, Pre-Paid and other scholarships as available. Students must register as full-time in order to use most aid abroad.

What scholarships are available for study abroad? UF and non-UF sponsored scholarships are available on a competitive basis for semester, year and summer programs. Some scholarships require that students maintain a high grade point average and others require that they choose a summer program sponsored by the University of Florida. Students are eligible to apply for summer program scholarships whether or not they are receiving financial aid. For a list of study abroad scholarships and an application, please refer to our website at www.abroad.ufic.ufl.edu.

Can students fulfill their summer residency requirement abroad? Absolutely! UF offers a number of faculty-led UF summer programs to Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Costa Rica, Czech Republic, England, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Mexico, Morocco, the Netherlands, Russia, Spain and South Africa, and faculty are working on more every year! If students find another SUS study abroad program and their academic advisor approves their courses, studies on that program will count toward the summer residency requirement as well.

Can students take their last 30 hours abroad? Yes. The UF requirement that all students complete their last 30 hours on-campus is waived for all UF-approved study abroad programs. As part of the study abroad application, you must receive approval for your study abroad plans from your department academic advisor.

What are the application deadlines for study abroad programs?
- Summer 2016 programs: March, 2016
- Fall 2016 or Academic Year 2016-2017 programs: Early April, 2016 (Exchange deadlines vary)
- Spring 2016 programs: Early October, 2015

Please note that some programs have an earlier application deadline or fill up quickly. Applying before the deadline is recommended. Start early to make plans to be a Global Gator!

Being a Gator means caring about the Gator Nation! If you or a fellow Gator is in distress, contact U Matter, We Care. In case of an emergency, contact the University of Florida Police Department at 352-392-1111.
Signs of an Unhappy Student
Early recognition of a student who is experiencing difficulty with the transition to college is not difficult, once you know what to look for. An informed parent or family member can spot behavioral cues that might indicate a student is feeling unsuccessful or uninvolved in college.

The cues include:

- Rarely leaving their apartment or residence hall room
- Coming home every weekend
- Calling home often and sounding uninterested about the college experience
- Failing to completely move into the residence hall room (i.e. clothes not unpacked, pictures not hung)
- Skipping classes frequently
- Random course-taking, no connection to a plan or major
- Selection of a major with no understanding of what the field involves
- Difficulty keeping up with course work
- Overconfidence, especially combined with poor previous academic record
- Failure to reapply for financial aid or housing
- No connections on campus, including no mention of friends, classes, or campus activities

These warning signs and others call for an immediate caring response on the part of family members. Contact umatter@ufl.edu for help.

8 Questions Every Parent or Family Member Should Ask His/Her First-Year College Student
Some of the cues listed above may be difficult for you to observe, and your student may not always be open about communicating them to you. However, you can have a reasonable assurance that your student is making a successful adjustment to college life if he/she can respond positively to the following questions after 6-8 weeks on campus:

- Do you know the name of the Dean of Students and where her office is located?
- Can you name four friends that you have made at the University of Florida?
- Do you have at least one activity (outside of classes) that you are participating in at UF?
- Have you set a goal for your grade point average at the end of the first semester?
- Do you know a faculty, staff or administrative person who has attempted to understand you as a whole person, not just as a student?
- Do you know the location of the campus libraries and computer labs?
- Do you know how your grade will be determined in each of your classes?
- Do you like the University of Florida and feel that you will be successful?

If at any time you have concerns about your student or general questions please contact the Dean of Students Office at (352) 392-1261.

For general UF questions, family members can email IHaveAGator@ufl.edu.

All officers are professionally trained and State of Florida certified, with the same authority and right to bear arms as any officer within the State of Florida. By law, university police officers are declared to be law enforcement officers of the state and conservators of the peace with the right to arrest in accordance with the laws of this state, any person for violation of state law or applicable county or city ordinances when such violations occur on any property or facilities which are under the guidance, supervision, regulations of control of the State University System, except that arrests may be made off-campus when pursuit originates on campus.

The department provides a full range of police services, including, but not limited to: investigating all crimes committed in its jurisdiction, making arrests, providing risk reduction/community services programs, enforcing traffic laws and maintaining crowd control for campus special events. The department maintains a close liaison with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies in implementing and coordinating campus law enforcement operations.

Community Services Division:
This division is a specifically designed unit that is responsible for organizing, establishing, maintaining and promoting coordinated risk reduction and community related programs. Examples of the most popular programs are:

- Alcohol and the Law - Overview of alcohol laws, responsible alcohol consumption and consequences of alcohol violations.

- Rape Aggression Defense (RAD) - A self-defense course for women only. The class is taught in four, three-hour sessions over four days. Students will systematically learn stances, yelling, movement, blocking, and escape methods along with many other defense techniques. You can register for classes by calling the University of Florida’s Police Department at (352) 392-1409.

- Student Nighttime Auxiliary Patrol (SNAP) - SNAP provides nighttime campus escorts whenever classes are in session. SNAP is staffed by University of Florida students who undergo background checks and receive extensive training prior to employment. To request a ride, download the new SNAP UF app in the Apple App Store, the Android Market, or call (352)392-7627. SNAP provides safe, reliable transportation on campus.

- Personal Safety Seminar - Smart decision-making, being aware of one's surroundings and the buddy system are among the topics discussed to arm the community against personal violence.

For more information on these or other services provided by the Community Services Division, you may contact us directly during weekdays (Monday-Friday) between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. by calling (352) 392-1409.

Office of Victim Services
A victim advocate is available 24-hours a day, seven days a week to provide support for victims of actual or threatened violence. All services are free and confidential. The victim advocate will accompany and support victims through all stages of the criminal justice process such as law enforcement interviews, line-ups, testimony, deposition, trial, sentencing, injunction hearings, etc. The victim advocate also provides emotional support dealing with the initial issues and feelings the victim may have when first facing their victimization. The victim advocate can also assist with referrals for counseling and other services that may be required. Most importantly, victims may use the services of the advocate even if they decide to not officially report the crime to a law enforcement agency.

As mentioned above, the advocate is available 24-hours daily through the University of Florida Police Department’s Dispatch Center at (352) 392-1111. Victims may also contact the advocate directly during weekdays (Monday-Friday) between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. by calling (352) 392-5648.

ACCESSING SERVICES

Students with immediate medical concerns should call first for same-day appointments: (352) 392-1161.

Students seeking an appointment for routine care more than 24 hours out may call or schedule online via the SHCC Web Portal: https://my.shcc.ufl.edu. NOTE: Those experiencing severe illness or injury during regular hours may come in directly for care in the Acute (Urgent) Care Clinic.

Patients may be asked to reschedule and/or charged a no-show fee if they fail to arrive within 10-15 minutes of their scheduled appointment time or fail to cancel within 24 hours. Cancellations may be called in or made online at https://my.shcc.ufl.edu.

REGULAR HOURS (closed all UF holidays; break week hours vary):
- Fall/Spring: Monday–Friday 8:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.; Sunday 12:00 p.m.–4:00 p.m (walk-ins and pharmacy services only)
- Summer: Monday–Friday 8:00 a.m.–4:30 p.m.

In an effort to protect and determine patient identification, a photo ID will be requested for every encounter of care and prescription unless the person is well known to the organization. In acute situations in which no photo ID is with the patient at the time of treatment, patients may provide UF ID number, date of birth and/or address.

Students with chronic health conditions are encouraged to schedule an initial evaluation appointment and bring all pertinent medical records. If the condition requires specialty care, SHCC staff can assist the patient in finding a local provider to manage the condition.

AFTER-HOURS ADVICE LINE: Students experiencing urgent, non-emergency medical concerns after-hours may call the SHCC at (352) 392-1161 for over-the-phone advice. The on-call medical provider can help students determine if they should seek medical treatment from a local facility right away, or if they can wait until regular business hours to be seen at the SHCC. IN ALL EMERGENCY SITUATIONS, CALL 911.
BILLING & INSURANCE

When a student is sick or injured, paying for services is not always the first thing that is discussed. The University of Florida health fee covers patient financial responsibility associated with most office visits. NOTE: The health fee, paid as part of tuition, goes to many campus-wide health initiatives and does not cover all possible medical charges at the SHCC. Patients are charged for things like lab tests, crutches, X-rays, medications, physicals and procedures.

As a service to our patients, the SHCC will forward a claim to a commercial insurance carrier if all appropriate information — including the policy number, group number and company mailing address — is provided. NOTE: While SHCC staff is available to help, it is the patient’s responsibility to know what their insurance policy covers, and the patient is ultimately liable for any charges not covered by insurance. Contact the insurance company before obtaining care to review policy benefits and learn how the coverage will work here by providing the SHCC’s tax identification number and name (591680273, Florida Clinical Practice Association).

UF requires all newly admitted/readmitted students enrolled at least half-time in a degree-seeking program to have health insurance that meets certain requirements. To complete this two-step process: 1) Visit my.ufl.edu to view holds click the box under “Holds” to acknowledge you understand this requirement. 2) EITHER submit current health insurance information via the online waiver system at https://my.shcc.ufl.edu/waiver OR do nothing and you will be auto-enrolled in and billed for the UF-sponsored plan. For waiver instructions, FAQs, UF-sponsored plan benefits and more, visit https://studentinsurance.shcc.ufl.edu.

Visit the “Fees & Insurance” area of the SHCC website for more detailed information about health insurance options, including private policies: www.shcc.ufl.edu/fees-and-insurance.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Mental health conditions requiring medication (ADHD, anxiety, depression, etc.): Contact the UF Counseling and Wellness Center for an appointment with one of the staff psychiatrists: (352) 392-1575.

Care for students taking a semester off, spouses/domestic partners and postdoctoral researchers: These groups may receive care at the SHCC if they pay the per-semester optional health fee; however, services are not available for children under the age of 16. Visit the "Eligibility for Care" area of the SHCC website for more information: www.shcc.ufl.edu/fees-and-insurance/university-shcc-fees/eligibility.

Patient privacy and medical records: Adult students (18 and over) must provide written permission in order for SHCC staff to communicate with any third party, including family, about current medical conditions. In most instances, patients may provide verbal permission at their appointment regarding third-party communication about current medical conditions.

Hospitalization and transport: If the SHCC feels a student needs to be transferred to the hospital, the student will be encouraged to notify family, as well as check with their insurance company to make sure their policy will cover hospitalization. The SHCC will work closely with the student to arrange appropriate transportation based on the situation (non-urgent or emergency).

Emergency events and contacts: In emergency situations, family members are typically contacted by the facility treating the student, which may seek emergency contact information from the Division of Student Affairs or Office of the University Registrar: www.registrar.ufl.edu/emergencycontact.html. NOTE: Adults students (18 and over) being seen at the SHCC for non-emergency medical issues must provide verbal permission in order for SHCC staff to communicate with any third party, including family.

Advance directives (living will, health care surrogate designation or anatomical donation): Visit the “Advance Directives” area of the UF Health website for detailed information on how to complete and file advance directives: https://ufhealth.org/advance-directives.

College can be an exciting and fun time for students. Your experiences in college can present a unique opportunity for learning and changing. With competing schedules and juggling several responsibilities, your health can fall to the side. While there will be multiple issues that you will have to manage while adjusting to a new institution, the idea of wellness and balance is the key.

Wellness is a process of becoming aware of and making positive choices in creating and promoting a healthy lifestyle so as to develop an appreciation and understanding of what it means to have a healthy mind, body and spirit. There are seven dimensions of wellness that encompass all aspects of daily life, and it is important to establish a balance among these different areas. To remember these seven dimensions of wellness, remember the word BELIEFS:

- Body - Making a commitment to maintain a healthy body by eating well balanced meals and exercising regularly in addition to developing responsible decisions concerning sex, alcohol, drugs, and tobacco.
- Emotions - Awareness and acceptance of one's feelings and emotions and the ability to cope with problems that arise in everyday life.
- Livelihood - Gaining personal satisfaction and fulfillment through your occupation.
- Intellect - Involves being open to new concepts and ideas and having a curiosity to seek out new experiences.
- Environment - Involves establishing a positive relationship with and an appreciation of the animate and inanimate world.
- Friends/Family - Having the ability to foster interpersonal relationships that are comfortable and do not harm others.
- Spirit - A process of looking within and exploring one's values and beliefs in order to discover a source of inner strength and serenity.

Be Well Rested!
Sleep is essential for optimal physical, academic, emotional and social health. It keeps your immune system strong and helps speed recovery from illness and injury. It improves one's ability to concentrate, accomplish required tasks and handle stressful situations. The human body needs 7 to 8 hours of sleep on average, every night. To increase your amount of sleep, here are some things you can do:

- Be more consistent with your bed time and waking time.
- Go to bed earlier.
- Respect your roommates’ need for sleep.
- Exercise regularly (but not within 2 hours of bedtime).
- Avoid tobacco usage.
- Don't drink alcohol within 2 hours of bedtime.
- Avoid caffeine 6 hours prior to bedtime.
- Set aside at least 15 minutes to unwind before bedtime.
- Avoid reading or studying in bed.
- Turn on a fan for “white” noise.
- Wear ear plugs to block out noise.
- Buy a comfortable pillow.

Additional information is in the 'Sleeping in the Swamp' handout:

According to the Healthy Gators Student Survey administered in Spring 2010, stress, cold/flu/sore throat, and sleep difficulties were reported by UF students to adversely affect academics.

Use Your Time Well
Learn to manage your time effectively. Time is one of our most valuable personal resources. We all have the same amount of time allotted every day no matter how you look at it. Planning well and being organized are very powerful tools for reducing stress. When you anticipate what the future might bring, you can be better prepared for it.

- Use a calendar. This can be paper or electronic, whichever works for you.
- Create some short and long term goals/objectives for each week.
- Think about the individual workload you have for each class to get the grade that you want from that class.
- Look at your syllabus for each class. Note the due dates and exams you have during the semester. Formulate long-range plans for tackling those tasks.
- Monitor your progress. Check in on a regular basis to see how well you are doing and what changes need to be made.

GatorWell Health Promotion Services offers UF students free wellness coaching appointments to help in the following areas of stress management and relaxation strategies, time management and organization, sleep habits, eating habits and exercise, and study skills: http://gatorwell.ufsa.ufl.edu/Wellness-Coaching.aspx
Alcohol and You
While many students are able to balance their social life with their academic life, some are unable to keep this balance and begin to socialize more than they study and attend class. Students are in a new environment at college and must make decisions about their health on a daily basis. This new environment can include attending parties where alcohol is present.

One of the most common consequences of alcohol use is the difficulty of students meeting their academic responsibilities. According to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) Task Force on College Drinking, 25% of college students report academic problems caused by alcohol use, such as doing poorly on exams or papers, earning lower grades, missing class and falling behind. (A Call to Action: Changing the Culture of Drinking at U.S. Colleges, 2002.)

Anyone under the age of 21 who is consuming alcohol or possessing an alcoholic beverage is breaking the law. For students who choose to drink, there are some risk reduction strategies:

- Use the buddy system at all times.
- Avoid drinking games and shots.
- Drink slowly. Don't gulp your drink.
- Eat food before you drink.
- Drink water before, during, and after – to help with hydration.
- Know your limit and stop before reaching that limit.
- Have a sober designated driver. Plan ahead of how you will get home safely.
- Know the signs and symptoms of alcohol poisoning

Additional information about alcohol poisoning and the UF Medical Amnesty Policy is available through GatorWell Health Promotion Services: http://gatorwell.ufsa.ufl.edu/Alcohol-and-Other-Drugs.aspx

Smoking
According to the Healthy Gators Student Survey administered in Spring 2010, only 2% of UF students smoke cigarettes on a daily basis. UF students interested in quitting tobacco are able to participate in the Quit Program through GatorWell Health Promotion Services: http://gatorwell.ufsa.ufl.edu/Smoking-Cessation-Services.aspx

Eating Well
Healthy eating is on the mind of a lot of students. As a new UF student, you might be making decisions about food that you have not had to make before. Now, it is your responsibility to figure when, what, and how you are going to eat, especially if you are not on a meal plan. You may also have roommates or friends who have very different eating habits than you. The main thing is to listen to your own body. Eat when you are hungry and stop when you are satisfied but not stuffed.

Here are a number of things students can do to improve their eating habits:

- Eat a variety of foods, incorporating fruits and vegetables.
- Eat more fiber, which is found in fruits, vegetables, whole grains, and beans.
- Do not skip meals.
- Eat breakfast.
- Eat more small meals rather than eating a few large meals.
- Take healthy snacks in your bag to have during breaks.
- Drink 6-8 glasses of water every day.

UF students can make an appointment with a registered dietitian for nutrition counseling and education at the Student Health Care Center: http://shcc.ufl.edu/services/specialty-care/nutrition-services/

Exercise
Being physically active is an important component of wellness. You can get your exercise through group fitness classes, intramurals, individual workouts, or playing sports. What are some of the benefits of fitness?

- Gives you a sense of commitment and control.
- Helps counteract stress.
- Helps to control weight.
- Relaxes tense muscles, thereby relieving your body's stress response.
- Increases the body's production of endorphins (a mood-booster).
- Increases self-esteem, confidence, and positive body image.
- Strengthens the heart and lungs, helps raise your HDL ("good" cholesterol).
- Promotes bone density, and it may help prevent osteoporosis.

UF students can participate in various types of exercise provided through Rec Sports: http://www.recsports.ufl.edu
WHAT IS AN OMBUDS?
The role of the Ombuds is to serve as a resource and designated neutral party for students who may have a University-related concern or problem. Such problems may be related to grades, differences of opinion with instructors, interpretation of university policies or other administrative issues that may be of concern. The Ombuds will work with students to interpret university policy, help identify options and strategies for resolving issues and serve as a mediator when appropriate.

Students are advised to first contact the instructor, the department chairperson, and/or the college dean before seeking assistance from the Ombuds, although instances do exist where contact with the University Ombuds first is beneficial.

When academic regulation appears to result in undue hardship, students may petition for a waiver of the regulation. If a student wishes to appeal a decision of the University Senate Committee on Student Petitions, he/she may do so to the Office of the Ombuds.

The Office of the University Ombuds has been configured to handle University matters for all levels of students including undergraduates, graduates and professional students.

WHY SEE THE OMBUDS?
- You have a problem, concern, or complaint
- You need to speak with someone in confidentiality
- You need help communicating with an instructor or staff person
- You need clarification on a policy and procedure
- You need direction on how to file a complaint or an appeal
- You would like to know what options are available to you
- You believe a policy or procedure is not being followed fairly

THE OMBUDS
- Listens to complaints, concerns and problems
- Gathers facts
- Facilitates communication
- Identifies relevant policies and procedures
- Recommends changes to university policies and procedures
- Helps work through bureaucracy
- Generates potential solutions
- Provides referrals
- Works to ensure fairness

An ombuds does not provide legal advice, nor does he/she represent either side of an issue. An ombuds advocates only for a fair and just process.

The Office of the University Ombuds was established by the state legislature and reports directly to the Provost and through the Provost to the President.
Student Legal Services (SLS) is a confidential and free service to full-time UF Students. Its purpose is two-fold:

- To help students deal with their legal problems by giving advice and providing representation in certain cases.
- To educate students about their rights and responsibilities in an increasingly complex world.

In addition to the legal counsel provided to individual students, Student Legal Services offers internships and volunteer experience for students interested in careers in the legal profession. Student Legal Services also educates students on their legal rights and responsibilities through lectures, workshops, presentations, and the distribution of information and materials on a variety of legal issues.
